

Chevron out of Burma Now!

Immediately stop fueling brutal dictatorship in Burma!

Say No to military regime greatest enabler, Chevron of California
Protest at the Chevron Share Holders Meeting on WED, MAY 27, 2009, 7am-10:30am;

Chevron's pipeline is Burma's military lifeline as it provides much-needed $$$ to the regime to purchase arms from China to keep stranglehold on the people. Along with the scarce and much-needed GAS that belongs to the people, the pipeline takes away the very livelihood of the people of Burma by effectively fueling the brutal dictatorship for decades.

Tell Chevron Executives and Shareholders:

GET OUT OF BURMA,

To stop the military dictatorship in Burma, we must stop the Chevron involvement in Burma.

WED, MAY 27, 7am to 10:30am; Chevron Corporate Headquarters;
6001 Bollinger Canyon Road, San Ramon, CA (More info: www.badasf.org)

Please make signs: Chevron Out of Burma; Chevron: Burmese Blood on your hand; Chevron Prospers, Burmese Suffers; Chevron Pipe line = Burma Dictator's Life Line; Chevron's wealth is Burmese Blood.

WHY: Chevron Corp. of San Ramon (formerly Unocal), a California oil corporation, is involved in a joint-venture with Burma's brutal and repressive military regime. The military maintains its stranglehold on Burma's people with weapons bought with foreign currency gained from natural gas sale to Thailand through Chevron's pipeline. While the electricity is scarce in Burma, the regime pockets hundreds of millions annually. As the world has witnessed repeatedly in recent years, soldiers and military thugs have been crushing the pro-democracy protests. Many activists and monks have been disrobed, beaten, humiliated, tortured, and killed. The regime is now putting Daw Aung San Suu Kyi on a military trial to keep her behind bar. The trial is scheduled to start Monday at a special court at Yangon's notorious Insein Prison, where she was arraigned and then held Thursday. The charge against her carries a sentence of up to five years and raises the possibility that Daw Aung San Suu Kyi, 63, who has been reported to be in fragile health, will face lengthy incarceration under much harsher conditions at Insein, where more than a hundred political prisoners has died while in custody. The international community must stop the regime from continued and ongoing destruction of people's beloved leader and democracy icon of Burma.
